

JR. WARDEN
Fred Cannon

I have said it before, and I will say it again. This is not a one-person job. Everyone has to pitch in. And it has been a good year for that. A big shout out to Wayne Averett, Stephen King, Grant Smith, Lynn Bryan, and I am sure many others that took care of things without notice. The real unsung hero is Tommie. She is the one that keeps me abreast of the things that need to be done and often can help schedule them without bothering me to do it and tells me about it later. That truly is a godsend because they are usually items that have to be done anyway and it just makes sense.

The year was not without issues, however.

- We did have a couple of leaks in the area above the entrance to the EYC room and in the chapel that I think we have taken care of.
- Some lighting issues in the kitchen area, as well as the refrigerators and dishwasher repair.
- A couple of fan motors on different HVAC units in the Parish Hall.

All things that are just a part of having a facility of this size.

There are a couple of things that will need to be addressed in the near future.

- The decking outside the nursery will certainly need attention and the answer could be quite costly. Honestly, that is why it hasn't been taken care of yet.
- We are presently looking into improving our exterior lighting.

There are still a few things that I have not been able to get to but will. Even if it is after the new Jr. Warden comes on. I won't leave you hanging, whoever you are. Because like I said before this is not a one-person job.
